Once upon a time, in many, many years ago, somewhere on the world's edge, was settled a kingdom, called Wooster's. The most important person of the Wooster's kingdom was king Edred, he had got married queen Manice, and they both got the most beautiful daughter in the world, Adan. When princess Adan became 18, king Edred decided to wed her with already promised groom. However, a young lady was already in love with one of the ignoble peasant, so her father tried to advance agreed weddings.

Once, accidentally, the king heard Adan and ignoble peasant's conversation, Satif was his name. King Edred found out that they are planning to escape out of the kingdom, and live long and happily together. He did not try to lecture his daughter, even did not tell to his wife, but hoped secretly ruin their intentions. King's thoughts were very cruel.

Then the day came to eliminate the young peasant, king Edred felt not oneself, he did not talk to anybody, did not eat anything, avoided for everyone and everything, he wanted to be outcast. In the evening, king Edred got up and went towards Satif's house. He glanced through the window and saw his daughter happily palavering with the ignoble. He could not let himself harm his beloved child, so went down and gave in to their love.

On the next day, king Edred summoned noble council meeting and legislated new law, which allowed noble to marry ignoble and vice versa. When the king was going out of the congress hall, his daughter, Adan, hugged him so strongly, that looked he might explode. Two months after that, the Wooster's kingdom held the most beautiful, ever seen gala weddings. The princess and a new prince had the luckiest day in their lives, whereas residents of the kingdom celebrated like never before.

Sometimes, our lives have many struggles. This time, it happened to our young character, who was seriously addicted to drugs. Our character, whose name is not very important, had to murder a prince, one of the most important figure of the kingdom. Unfortunately, he did what he was asked to do, and was imprisoned after was caught. He had to spend all his life behind the bars in worst possible living conditions: nobody respected, despised, threatened to kill him of what he did. Food was also very miserable, just bread and water three times a day, and only on the big occasions, milk and semolina.

Days went on, and it was too much of such life. Our character decided to escape out of the prison. He took a spoon and started to scratch, deeper and deeper into the walls. It was not easy task, but people used to do crazy things for freedom. After a while, when he managed to escape, a young character became an ordinary peasant of the kingdom. He was very hard-working and devoted to his new life. Everybody noticed it, including princess Adan. She was fascinated by his kindness and fell in love so deeply, that convinced her father, king Edred, let them marry.
